

Clairault Semillon Sauvignon Blanc 2007

93/100

“I don’t drink much SSB or SBS (well I don’t really drink much of any one thing these days) but when in town Mr Walsh chooses to stay at the Margaret River. I like these blends better than straight Sauvignon Blanc as they have a bit more interest and usually have better shape through the palate.

A bright and juicy mix of citrus, gooseberry and tropical fruit with some spice and grassy overtones. On the palate it’s light and beautifully balanced with fine clean acid that refreshes but does not grate. The flavours are of slightly sweet tropical fruits cut with citrus tang and there is a bit of capsicum spice and grassiness to add interest. Quite delicate. Finishes clean and long. It’s a top wine and so refreshing. Invigorating even. 93/100” Gary Walsh

The Home of Renowned Tasting

winorama

Home About Contact Digest Links List all reviews (by Producer)

Search:

Google Search

Winorama Search

Latest Comments:

Anthony on macforbes Woori Yallock Pinot Noir 200...

Paddle Pop Lion on macforbes RS31 Riesling 2007

Gary Walsh on Shelmerdine Pinot Noir 2007

Adam on Jamsheed Heathcote Shiraz 2006

Clairault Semillon Sauvignon Blanc 2007 Thursday, Mar 13 2008

Tasting Notes and Australia and Margaret River and Variety and White and semillon et al Gary Walsh

I don't drink much SSB or SBS (well I don't really drink much of any one thing these days) but when in town Mr Walsh chooses to stay at the Margaret River. I like these blends better than straight Sauvignon Blanc as they have a bit more interest and usually have better shape through the palate.

A bright and juicy mix of citrus, gooseberry and tropical fruit with some spice and grassy overtones. On the palate it's light and beautifully balanced with fine clean acid that refreshes but does not grate. The flavours are of slightly sweet tropical fruits cut with citrus tang and there is a bit of capsicum spice and grassiness to add interest. Quite delicate. Finishes clean and long. It's a top wine and so refreshing. Invigorating even.

Rated : 93 Points
Tasted : Mar08
Alcohol : 13%
Price : $24
Closure : Screwcap
Drink : 2008 - 2010
Source : Winery Sample
Visit winery website
Print this article

<http://www.winorama.com.au/tasting-notes/clairault-semillon-sauvignon-blanc-2007/>